

It's a great pleasure for us to announce the call for LiHE'13 GREECE. An international residential symposium exclusively for authors of chapters accepted for inclusion in the anthology "Improving University Students' Learning Outcomes through Case-based Teaching". The anthology will be published world wide by Libri Publishing Ltd. Submit your chapter proposal on or before January 31, 2013 to get into consideration for participating in the LiHE symposium and getting your research published world wide. LiHE'13 GREECE is organised as a true collaborative symposium, where authors of accepted chapters meet over five days to co-create the full manuscript of the book "Improving University Students' Learning Outcomes through Case-based Teaching". The LiHE symposium follows a unique and well-proven format which enforces collegiality, creativity and high quality academic output - See more at: <http://www.lihe.info/2012/08/28/case-based-teaching/#sthash.7ib8UXHb.dpuf>
