

Contents

Series Editor's Preface	vii
List of Contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xiii
Introduction	1
Angus J.L. Menuge
PART I THE FOUNDATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS
1 Grounding Human Rights: Naturalism's Failure and Biblical Theism's Success	11
Paul Copan
2 Theism and Human Rights	33
Paul Cliteur
3 Why Human Rights Cannot be Naturalized: The Contingency Problem	57
Angus J.L. Menuge
4 Human Rights as Legal Rights	79
Friedrich Toepel
PART II RELIGIOUS LIBERTY AND THE SECULAR STATE
5 Human Rights in a Secular State Will Depend on its Legal Definition of Religion	103
John H. Calvert
6 Balancing Secularism with Religious Freedom: In Lautsi v. Italy , the European Court of Human Rights Evolved	127
Vito Breda
7 Restrictions on Religious Freedom: When and How Justified?	143
John Warwick Montgomery

PART III ENFORCING AND MOTIVATING HUMAN RIGHTS

8	No Human Rights without Retribution: Plights and Promises of Redress as if Nothing Happened Hendrik Kaptein	159
9	The Motivation to Protect and Advance Human Rights: A Faith-Based Approach Dallas Miller	179
10	Why is Man the Primary and Functional Way for the Church?: The Involvement of Christian Teaching in Contemporary Human Rights Discourse Dobrochna Bach-Golecka	199
Index		213

www.ashgate.com www.ashgate.com www.ashgate.com www.ashgate.com www.ashgate.com www.ashgate.com www.ashgate.com www.ashgate.com www.ashgate.com www.ashgate.com